WARNING

AVOID CONTACT WITH AND USE OF WATER IN THE KLAMATH RIVER

Public health thresholds for blue-green algae and/or associated toxins WERE EXCEEDED during recent public health monitoring (___/___/2016)

Do not use this water for rinsing fish, drinking, or cooking.

Do not consume fish organs-
Wash fillets with drinking water prior to eating.

Shellfish from these waters previously tested positive for an algal toxin.

Children and pets are at greatest risk.

Keep pets, especially dogs, out of areas containing visible concentrations of algae. Do not allow them to drink river water or lick their fur clean of algae.

For more information contact staff at:
North Coast Regional Water Quality Control Board at 707-576-2220 or Yurok Tribe Environmental Program (707) 954-1996

This water body is being monitored by the Yurok Tribe; this notice will be revised as conditions change.
For updates on river conditions please visit: http://kbmp.net/maps-data/blue-green-algae-tracker